Thankfulness is an attitude we should have year around. But November is when we celebrate Thanksgiving and tend to be extra aware of being Thankful during this month. This year we have so many reasons to be thankful for. I am grateful for my life with the little people who attend our school and give me such love on a daily basis. And the teachers and staff who work so tirelessly to care for and love them. From the moment they step into our center, till the time you pick them up, we love them as if they were our own. This year especially.

We are fixing what the pandemic has left for our children and families. They are providing the experiences that have been lost or forgotten during their absence from school. I am thankful for you parents who are always letting us know how much your children enjoy being here and how grateful you are for us. We even appreciate the comments that are hard to hear. Your feedback is important. We can be better for you if we are aware of things that are not working efficiently. So this month, I hope you are able to look at your life and all that you have, wake up and go to bed each day feeling grateful. And I think if your little ones were able to, they would say Thank you Mommy and Daddy for giving us such wonderful opportunities. November is Parent Teacher Conference time.

We have chosen to send the assessments home to you this year, with the option of meeting with the Teacher via Phone conference if you feel the need to discuss your child's progress. Please look home in your child's homework folders or sign out book. Your emails will also be accepted if you have any questions regarding the assessment.

November 19 is a half day and the beginning of our Thanksgiving break. We will see you back at school on November 29. Please check the important date's box below just in case I missed something. Enjoy one another and may love and happiness abound in your homes this Holiday season.
